

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) contractor for the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR) is experiencing temporary food delivery delays.

This is impacting our inventory levels.

USDA is working to resume regular, on-time deliveries as quickly as possible. USDA is also working with us to provide food through other methods in the meantime.

Until the issues are resolved, your FDPIR food package may look a little different. We thank you for your patience.

Learn more:

